Berrybank Stage 1 Wind Farm

Operations Update

BERRYBANK STAGE 1 WIND FARM ACHIEVES PRACTICAL COMPLETION

GPG Australia, a subsidiary of Global Power Generation, the international energy generation arm of Naturgy Group, today announced that the Berrybank Stage 1 Wind Farm achieved practical completion on 24 May 2021.

The wind farm is comprised of 43 turbines with a total installed capacity of 180 megawatts (MW). It is designed to generate approximately 644,000 megawatt hours of renewable electricity per year – enough electricity to power 138,000 households.

Awarded by the Victorian government in 2018, energy generated from the project will be subject to a 15-year regulated tariff and contribute towards the achievement of the Victorian Renewable Energy Targets. The Company invested 284 million Australian dollars in the development of the Berrybank Stage 1 Wind Farm and created more than 200 jobs during the construction phase.

We are pleased to complete the first stage of the Berrybank Wind Farm and contribute towards the achievement of Victoria's Renewable Energy Targets. In addition to generating employment opportunities during the construction phase and in ongoing operations, this project will have the capacity to sustainably power the equivalent of 138,000 households with clean, renewable energy. GPG is committed to playing an important role in the development of the renewable energy industry in Australia.
